INTRODUCTION

American troops have been fighting in Iraq for more than five years, and October 2008 marks the seventh anniversary of our nation's mission in Afghanistan. To honor the tremendous sacrifices made by our troops and their families, it is America's national responsibility to demonstrate tangible support for the 1.7 million veterans who have served in these two wars.

On Capitol Hill, in the media, and in communities across the country, Iraq and Afghanistan Veterans of America (IAVA) is the foremost advocate for our nation's returning warriors and their families. The IAVA Action Fund is IAVA's non-profit, nonpartisan 501(c)4 sister organization, dedicated to educating American voters, pushing for solutions to troops' issues and holding our elected leaders accountable for their actions. We hope this Report Card will serve as a resource to voters, media, and elected officials.

We are proud to report that the 110th Congress has achieved historic success on behalf of troops and veterans. In June 2008, the landmark Post-9/11 GI Bill was signed into law, ensuring an affordable education for all veterans of Iraq and Afghanistan. The new GI Bill was IAVA's number one priority for 2008, and it represents the single largest increase in veterans' education funding in 60 years. This legislation is an extraordinary achievement that will broaden the opportunities available to an entire generation of combat veterans, and, like the World War II GI Bill of Rights, will strengthen our national economy for decades to come.

The success of this bill would not have been possible without the work of an unprecedented bipartisan coalition in Congress. By the time of its passage, the Post-9/11 GI Bill had gained the support of more than half of the Senate and more than three-quarters of the House of Representatives. IAVA lauds the commitment of lawmakers on both sides of the aisle to making the new GI Bill a reality, and we are pleased to highlight this dedication in our 2008 Report Card.

The 110th Congress's second major achievement on behalf of veterans was full funding the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA). After years of inadequate budget allocations, veterans' hospitals were struggling to cope with the hundreds of thousands of new combat veterans seeking medical care. The budgets approved by Congress for 2007 and 2008 increased

VA funding by over ten billion dollars, matching for the first time the budget recommendations made by leading veterans service organizations. And the planned budget for 2009 builds on that progress. For the more than five million veterans of all generations who rely on the VA for their health care, this is a tremendous victory.

Congress also addressed a number of other key issues that affect the nation's newest veterans. Crucial legislation passed by this Congress increased benefits for disabled veterans, expanded suicide prevention efforts, and improved treatment for Traumatic Brain Injury.

IAVA Action Fund's 2008 Congressional Report Card takes a closer look at the progress we have to celebrate this year. In the following pages, every member of Congress is graded on his or her leadership and voting record on the most critical issues facing Iraq and Afghanistan veterans. We are pleased to report that more than 150 legislators received a perfect score, a grade of A+. These legislators showed a consistent commitment to the support of our troops.

In particular, we'd like to recognize the crucial work of Senators Jim Webb (D-VA), Chuck Hagel (R-NE), Frank Lautenberg (D-NJ), John Warner (R-VA), Daniel Akaka (D-HI), and Harry Reid (D-NV); and of Representatives Harry Mitchell (D-AZ), Bobby Scott (D-VA), Ginny Brown-Waite (R-FL), Peter King (R-NY), David Obey (D-WI), Chet Edwards (D-TX) and Speaker Nancy Pelosi (D-CA). These lawmakers went above and beyond, not just voting in support of our veterans but also working behind the scenes to bring crucial veterans' legislation to the floor.

The IAVA Action 2008 Congressional Report Card also serves as a tool to hold those in Congress accountable when they fail to vote in support of our troops and veterans. This year, 9 politicians earned Ds or Fs. These legislators must improve their voting records if they are to legitimately claim that they support our troops and veterans.

In January, we look forward to continuing our work with the 111th Congress. In particular, we will be working to ensure that the VA receives a timely and adequate budget, disabled veterans get the benefits they have earned, and all troops receive appropriate mental health screening and treatment.

ABOUT OUR SCORING

IAVA Action has taken a straightforward approach to scoring lawmakers' support for veterans. Based on the legislative priorities outlined in IAVA's 2007 and 2008 Legislative Agendas, IAVA Action has selected 22 key votes on veterans' issues in the 110th Congress (9 votes in the Senate and 13 votes in the House).

Each of these votes was an opportunity for Senators and Representatives to take a stand on behalf of Iraq and Afghanistan veterans. The votes cover the entire range of issues facing new veterans, including veterans' health care, the new GI Bill, mental health, and support for homeless veterans. The significance of each individual vote is described in the "Vote Description" section of the report card.

Scores are based on how often legislators took the pro-veteran position and voted with IAVA Action. For every vote in line with IAVA Action and in support of veterans, the lawmaker receives one point. Those who vote against the position of IAVA Action, or those who fail to vote, do not receive a point.

In addition, because the fight for the new GI Bill was of such historic importance, we wanted to recognize those who had gone above and beyond voting in the bill's favor. Any Senator or Representative who signed on to be a cosponsor of the Post-9/11 GI Bill (Senate bill 22, and House bill 5740) receives two additional points.

The letter grades are then determined by the simple charts below.

It is important to note that whether a lawmaker is a veteran himself or herself does not factor into our scoring. However, IAVA believes that having served in the military offers valuable insight and experience for legislators, particularly regarding military and veterans' issues. Representatives who are military veterans are marked with a star in the index.

Finally, 30 Senators and Representatives did not serve a complete term in the 110th Congress. These Senators and Representatives receive an "incomplete" grade, marked "INC" in the vote totals. In addition the House Speaker, who customarily does not vote, is simply marked "S."

HOUSE VOTE DESCRIPTIONS

The descriptions below explain what was at stake for each of IAVA Action's 13 key House votes.

1. FUNDING VETERANS' HEALTH CARE, 2007

✓ IAVA Action Supported

January 31, 2007: 2007 House Vote #72

More than five million American veterans rely on the Department of Veterans Affairs for their health care. Although veterans' hospitals provide some of the best health care in the country, the VA has been underfunded for years; for FY2007, the Bush Administration requested almost $4 billion less in VA funding than the amount suggested by major veterans' organizations. In early 2007, Congress made veterans' health care a priority, increasing the funding for veterans' health care by $3.6 billion. The budget passed by a vote of 286-140.

For more information about this legislation, please see Senate vote 48 in the Senate Vote Descriptions.

2. JOSHUA OMVIG SUICIDE PREVENTION ACT

✓ IAVA Action Supported

March 21, 2007: 2007 House Vote #174

Joshua Omvig, a 22-year-old Army Reservist from Grundy Center, Iowa, served honorably in Iraq, but returned home unable to cope with his memories of the war. He sought help from the Department of Veterans Affairs. As is the case with far too many young veterans, Omvig found that the hospital was overbooked, and the bureaucracy moved too slowly. In December 2005, only months after his return from war, Joshua Omvig committed suicide.

Joshua's parents, Randy and Ellen Omvig, spent the next two years ensuring other young veterans would get the counseling that Joshua so desperately needed. The Joshua Omvig Suicide Prevention Act requires Veterans Affairs staff to receive mental health training and VA medical facilities to have suicide prevention counselors. The legislation also supports education for veterans and military families, and promotes research into suicide prevention.

On March 21, 2007, the Joshua Omvig Suicide Prevention Act passed the House of Representatives unanimously. The bill became law on November 5, 2007.

3. WOUNDED WARRIORS ASSISTANCE ACT

✓ IAVA Action Supported

March 28, 2007: 2007 House Vote #208

Responding to the scandal at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, the Wounded Warrior Assistance Act included a number of key improvements to veterans' care and benefits. The bill created new "Centers of Excellence" to research, prevent and treat Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) and Traumatic Brain Injury (TBI), authorized new testing for TBI, and improved coordination between the Departments of Defense and Veterans Affairs. Reaching the House floor on March 28, 2007, the legislation passed unanimously.

4. REFUGEE STATUS FOR IRAQI INTERPRETERS

✓ IAVA Action Supported

May 22, 2007: 2007 House Vote #399

American troops rely on the work of their Iraqi interpreters, who often act as their eyes and ears in the combat zone. These Iraqis are one of the most important tools U.S. troops have and are critical to their safety in combat and their ability to complete their missions successfully. These courageous Iraqis regularly face threats of kidnapping, torture and assassination, to both themselves and their families. Many have been forced to flee their homes because of their support for the American forces.

Unfortunately, the American government has done little to support the Iraqis who have supported us, accepting only about two thousand Iraqi refugees in the first four years of the war. Sweden, by comparison, accepted about 9,000 Iraqi refugees in 2006 alone.

Support for our allies is not just a moral imperative. It is crucial to successful counterinsurgency work that America protect those who are working on our behalf. This key amendment extends special immigrant visa status for Iraqi and Afghan interpreters working for the U.S. government, allows 500 more Iraqi and Afghan allies to find refuge in the United States, and offers these refugees an opportunity to become permanent U.S. residents. The amendment passed 412-8.

5. TREATING TRAUMATIC BRAIN INJURY

✓ IAVA Action Supported

May 23, 2007: 2007 House Vote #413

Traumatic Brain Injury (TBI) has been called the signature wound of the Iraq War. A TBI can be caused by bullets or shrapnel hitting the head or neck, but also by the blast from mortar attacks or roadside bombs. It is this second kind of injury that is especially prevalent in Iraq. According to the landmark 2008 RAND study, 19% of Iraq and Afghanistan veterans experienced a probable TBI during their deployment.

Telltale signs of TBI include memory and emotional problems; vision, hearing, or speech problems; and sleep disorders. Unfortunately, mild to moderate TBI can often remain undiagnosed and untreated. In addition, multiple mild TBIs can accumulate over time, leading to serious neurological problems that are not readily linked to one injury.

The “TBI Health Enhancement and Long-Term Support Act,” originally sponsored by Representative Michael Michaud (D-ME), worked to improve diagnosis and treatment of TBI. The legislation requires mandatory TBI screening for veterans accessing VA health care, improves long term care for those with severe Traumatic Brain Injuries, creates a TBI registry, authorizes new TBI research projects, and establishes a pilot project of mobile Vet Centers to reach veterans who need care but live far from VA facilities. The legislation passed unanimously.

6. FUNDING VETERANS’ HEALTH CARE, 2008

✓ IAVA Action Supported

June 15, 2007: 2007 House Vote #498

Adequate funding for the hundreds of VA hospitals and clinics nationwide is a top priority for all veterans’ organizations. Unfortunately, the VA has historically been underfunded.

The 2008 funding bill for the Department of Veterans Affairs was a major step in the right direction. The VA budget was set at $87.7 billion, including an additional $2.5 billion above the Administration’s request for veterans’ health care. Although the White House had threatened to veto any bill containing funding above their requested levels, the Administration wisely made an exception for this legislation.

The bill provides significant increases in funding for research into and treatment for Traumatic Brain Injury and Post Traumatic Stress Disorder. The bill also added funding for VA health facility maintenance, and for hiring 1,100 claims processors to cut the inexcusable VA claims backlog.

The veterans’ funding, a part of the fiscal 2008 Military Construction and Veterans Affairs appropriations bill, passed by a vote of 409-2.

For more information about this legislation, please see Senate vote 316 in the Senate Vote Descriptions.

7. EXPANDED VETERANS’ BENEFITS

✓ IAVA Action Supported

December 12, 2007: 2007 House Vote #1151

As a part of the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA) for 2008, Congress included a number of improvements to veterans’ benefits. Perhaps most significantly, the 2008 NDAA extended the amount of time new veterans have to seek VA health care. Before the passage of this legislation, any veteran who did not seek care within two years of leaving the military risked losing coverage altogether. The 2008 NDAA gave veterans five years to access care. In addition, the bill allowed reserve component troops who separate from the military to keep the education benefits they earned, improved reintegration programs for National Guardsmen and Reservists, required pre- and post- deployment tests for Traumatic Brain Injury, created a wartime contracting oversight commission, and provided crucial assistance for Iraqi interpreters. The bill passed by a vote of 370-49.

For more information about this legislation, please see Senate vote 359 in the Senate Vote Descriptions.

8. VETERANS GUARANTEED BONUS ACT

✓ IAVA Action Supported

December 18, 2007: 2007 House Vote #1176

Many troops receive a signing bonus when they join the military; these bonuses are usually paid out over time, and are contingent on completing one’s obligation to the military. But some troops wounded in combat and unable to complete their service were having their bonus payments stopped, and in some cases, were being obliged to repay their bonus to the Pentagon. One such veteran was Pfc. Jordan Fox, who was injured while serving in Iraq and sent home. While he was recuperating, the Defense Department sent him a bill for $3,000. It is an inexcusable oversight for troops who have given so much in defense of our country to face yet another battle as they recuperate from their injuries.

IAVA led the fight to bring attention to Jordan Fox's story, and to protect other wounded troops from having to repay their signing bonuses. Over 11,000 IAVA supporters urged their Representatives to support the "Veterans Guaranteed Bonus Act," which requires that the Defense Department continue to pay bonuses to troops who are forced to leave the military because of injuries sustained in combat, and prohibits requiring the service member to repay any portion of the bonus. On December 18th, this legislation passed the House unanimously.

9. THE POST-9/11 GI BILL: FAIR EDUCATION BENEFITS FOR VETERANS (FIRST VOTE)

✓ IAVA Action Supported

May 15, 2008: 2008 House Vote #330

For the 1.7 million veterans of the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan, the transition to civilian life can be challenging. Veterans of World War II were aided in their reintegration by the "GI Bill," which paid for the education of eight million combat veterans. The GI Bill changed the lives of millions of American veterans and their families. Sadly, Iraq and Afghanistan veterans, still covered by the peacetime Montgomery GI Bill from 1984, received a far smaller benefit. Many new combat veterans were struggling with student loans or dropping out of school altogether.

A new GI Bill was the number one priority for IAVA and IAVA Action in 2008. The popular and bipartisan "Post- 9/11 GI Bill," introduced on the House side by Rep. Harry Mitchell (D-AZ-5), Rep. Bobby Scott (D-VA-3), Rep. Ginny Brown-Waite (R-FL-5), and Rep. Peter King (R-NY-3), offered a new future to Iraq and Afghanistan veterans.

The new GI Bill dramatically increases education benefits by providing tuition payments up to the cost of the most expensive public university in the state, a monthly living allowance, and a book stipend. It also creates a new "Yellow Ribbon" program that matches any scholarship given to a veteran by a school more expensive than the tuition cap.

In spring 2008, the new GI Bill was included as part of the domestic spending amendment to the Iraq war funding bill. Because of the concerns of some fiscally conservative "Blue Dog" Democrats in the House, the cost of the GI Bill was given a budget offset (although the cost of the war funding as a whole was not). The offset chosen was a tax increase on individuals making over $500,000 a year, or couples making over $1 million annually. The offset lead many Republicans to vote against the measure despite their support for the GI Bill. The amendment passed by a margin of 256-166.

For more information about this legislation, please see House Vote 432 later in this section, and Senate votes 137, 161, and 162 in the Senate Vote Descriptions.

10. A SECOND RATE GI BILL

✗ IAVA Action Opposed

May 23, 2008: 2008 House Vote #364

For over 18 months, IAVA and IAVA Action worked closely with a bipartisan coalition of Senators and Representatives on a new Post-9/11 GI Bill that would make college affordable to veterans coming home from Iraq and Afghanistan. The model for the new legislation was the World War II GI Bill that paid for the education of eight million combat veterans, and helped rebuild America after a half-decade of war.

The Post-9/11 GI Bill quickly gained the support of 300 cosponsors in the House, almost 60 cosponsors in the Senate, and all the leading Veterans Service Organizations, including the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, and of course IAVA.

A small but vocal opposition in Congress argued that the benefit was too generous. In an effort to derail the popular and bipartisan Post-9/11 GI Bill already a part of the war supplemental funding, a motion was made to advance a meager and ill-conceived "alternate" GI Bill before the Post-9/11 GI Bill had the opportunity to be passed and signed into law. This alternative GI Bill did not meet any of IAVA's requirements for a new GI Bill; it did not cover the cost of college, it did not create fairness for National Guardsmen and Reservists, and because it was not linked to the cost of college, it would lose value every year. It did include a "transferability" benefit, which offered current service members who agree to remain in the military for ten years the opportunity to transfer their GI Bill benefit to their spouse or children. However, because 75% of those serving in the military get out after their first term of service, this benefit will apply to relatively few Iraq and Afghanistan veterans. Moreover, transferability was already possible at the discretion of the Department of Defense service secretaries. The weak “alternative” GI Bill received the support of no major veterans’ service organizations.

Thankfully, the measure was voted down, 186 to 223.

For more information about this legislation, please see Senate vote 127 in the Senate Vote Descriptions.

11. THE POST-9/11 GI BILL: FAIR EDUCATION BENEFITS FOR VETERANS (SECOND VOTE)

✓ IAVA Action Supported
June 19, 2008: 2008 House Vote #432

The emergency supplemental funding for the Iraq War, to which the GI Bill was attached, bounced from the House to the Senate twice while legislators ironed out differences between the House and Senate versions of the legislation. House leadership worked closely with the White House to find a version of the supplemental that would not face a Presidential veto. The Post-9/11 GI Bill was left unaltered by this process, and in fact, a new benefit was added to the legislation. At the behest of the Bush Administration, a “transferability” provision offered current service members who agree to remain in the military for ten years the opportunity to transfer their GI Bill benefit to their spouse or children. The new version of the GI Bill passed with overwhelming support, 416-12.

For more information about this legislation, please see House Vote 330 earlier in this section, and Senate votes 137, 161, and 162 in the Senate Vote Descriptions.

12. HOMES FOR HEROES

✓ IAVA Action Supported
July 9, 2008: 2008 House Vote #478

On any given night, about 150,000 American veterans are homeless. Preliminary data from the VA suggest that Iraq and Afghanistan veterans make up 1.8% of the homeless veteran population, meaning that there are currently almost 2,000 homeless Iraq and Afghanistan veterans.

The Homes for Heroes Act provides for supportive housing for very low income veteran families and housing vouchers for homeless veterans. In addition, it protects veterans from discrimination in accessing other federal housing assistance programs, by excluding VA benefits from eligibility determination. The bill passed by a vote of 412 to 9.

13. FUNDING VETERANS’ HEALTH CARE, 2009

✓ IAVA Action Supported
August 1, 2008: 2008 House Vote #563

Building on record budget increases in 2008, this bill provides an additional $4.6 billion increase in veterans’ funding. It will allow for the hiring of 2,100 additional claims processors, increase funding for prosthetics by $250 million, increase the reimbursement veterans receive for driving to and from VA hospitals, and reject proposed fees and budget cuts. The legislation passed by a vote of 409-4.

SENATE VOTE DESCRIPTIONS

The descriptions below explain what was at stake for each of IAVA Action's 9 key Senate votes.

1. FUNDING VETERANS' HEALTH CARE, 2007

✓ IAVA Action Supported

February 14, 2007: 2007 Senate Vote #48

Budgets for veterans' health care are often late and inadequate. In early 2007, the incoming 110th Congress was faced with the urgent obligation to pass continuing budget funding for 2007, a responsibility that should have been addressed by the previous Congress. On February 14th, Congress passed a landmark continuing resolution increasing veterans' health care funding by $3.6 billion. The budget passed with overwhelming support, by a vote of 81-15.

For more information about this legislation, please see House vote 72 in the House Vote Descriptions.

2. FUNDING FOR MRAPS

✓ IAVA Action Supported

March 29, 2007: 2007 Senate Vote #124

In the early years of the Iraq War, the use of improvised explosive devices, or roadside bombs, took the military brass by surprise. In particular, Defense Department leadership failed to request "MRAPs" or "Mine Resistant Ambush Protected" vehicles to replace the more vulnerable Humvees. During this delay, troops in the field were suffering dire consequences. According to one study, as many as 50% of troops who died in Humvees would have been saved, if production of MRAPs had begun when the need for them was first identified.

Recognizing the urgency, Congress responded to the shortfall. An amendment from Senator Biden (D-DE) to the emergency supplemental war funding appropriated an additional $1.5 billion for 2,500 more Mine Resistant Ambush Protected vehicles for the Armed Forces. The amendment passed unanimously, 98-0. MRAPs are now more widely available, and are protecting American troops every day in Iraq.

3. FUNDING VETERANS' HEALTH CARE, 2008

✓ IAVA Action Supported

September 6, 2007: 2007 Senate Vote #316

In the 2008 budget, veterans saw another major increase in funding. The 2008 budget was $6.7 billion higher than that of 2007, the largest increase to VA funding in 77 years. The final veterans' budget included $2.9 billion for mental health and substance abuse programs, and $130 million for homeless vouchers. The VA budget passed with overwhelming support, by a vote of 92 to 1.

For more information about this legislation, please see House vote 498 in the House Vote Descriptions.

4. EXPANDED VETERANS' BENEFITS

✓ IAVA Action Supported

October 1, 2007: 2007 Senate Vote #359

As a part of the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA) for 2008, Congress extended the window of opportunity for new veterans to seek VA health care. The legislation also allowed reserve component troops who separate from the military to keep their education benefits, improved reintegration programs for National Guardsmen and Reservists, required pre- and post- deployment tests for Traumatic Brain Injury, created a wartime contracting oversight commission, and provided assistance for Iraqi interpreters. The Senate legislation also included the benefits passed by the House in the Wounded Warrior Act. The NDAA passed by a margin of 92 to 3.

For more information about this legislation, please see House votes 1151 and 208 in the House Vote Descriptions.

5. ENHANCED VETERANS' BENEFITS

✓ IAVA Action Supported

April 24, 2008: 2008 Senate Vote #112

Originally sponsored by Senator Akaka (D-HI), this bill provides improved adaptive housing for disabled veterans, reauthorizes education benefits for apprenticeship and on the job training programs, streamlines disability claims processing, and allows troops to suspend their cell phone contracts when they deploy. The legislation passed 96-1.

6. STOPPING A SECOND RATE GI BILL

✓ IAVA Action Supported

May 14, 2008: 2008 Senate Vote #127

For over 18 months, IAVA and IAVA Action worked to pass a new GI Bill that would make college affordable to veterans coming home from Iraq and Afghanistan. In early 2008, Senators Webb (D-VA), Hagel (R-NE), Warner (R-VA) and Lautenberg (D-NJ), all combat veterans themselves, introduced the new GI Bill, which rapidly became one of the single most supported pieces of legislation in Congress. The bill had the bipartisan support of 300 cosponsors in the House, almost 60 cosponsors in the Senate, and all the leading Veterans Service Organizations, including the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, and of course IAVA.

Unfortunately, a small but vocal opposition, led by Senators Graham (R-SC) and Burr (R-NC), opposed the new GI Bill, arguing that the benefit was too generous and would draw troops away from re-enlisting. IAVA argued forcefully that our patriotic troops would continue to serve their country, and that a new benefit would also encourage thousands of college-bound young people to join the military.

In an effort to derail the popular and bipartisan Post-9/11 GI Bill, Senator Graham attempted to attach a meager and ill-conceived alternative GI Bill as an amendment to an unrelated piece of legislation, an action referred to by Congressional Quarterly as a “surprise move, with hints of campaign politics.” Thankfully, the Senate voted forcefully, 55-42, to kill the amendment, giving the Post-9/11 GI Bill an opportunity to come to the floor.

For more information about this legislation, please see House vote 364 in the House Vote Descriptions.

7. THE POST-9/11 GI BILL: FAIR EDUCATION BENEFITS FOR VETERANS (FIRST VOTE)

✓ IAVA Action Supported

May 22, 2008: 2008 Senate Vote #137

The “Post- 9/11 GI Bill,” introduced by a bipartisan coalition of combat veterans in the Senate, offered new veterans the same kind of educational opportunity America gave veterans of World War II. The Post-9/11 GI Bill dramatically increases education benefits by providing tuition payments up to the cost of the most expensive public university in the state, a monthly living allowance, and a book stipend. It also creates a new “Yellow Ribbon” program that matches any scholarship given to a veteran by a school more expensive than the tuition cap.

In spring 2008, the new GI Bill was included as part of a domestic spending amendment to the Iraq war funding bill, and was adopted by a wide margin of 75-22.

For more information about this legislation, please see House votes 330 and 432 in the House Vote Descriptions, and Senate votes 161 and 162 later in this section.

8. THE POST-9/11 GI BILL: FAIR EDUCATION BENEFITS FOR VETERANS (SECOND VOTE)

✓ IAVA Action Supported

June 26, 2008: 2008 Senate Vote #161

The emergency supplemental funding for the Iraq War, to which the GI Bill was attached, bounced from the House to the Senate twice while legislators ironed out differences between the House and Senate versions of the legislation. In the second round of emergency supplemental voting on the Senate side, a new “transferability” provision had been added to the GI Bill at the behest of the Bush Administration. The new provision offers current service members who agree to remain in the military for ten years the opportunity to transfer their GI Bill benefit to their spouse or children. In a procedural vote to waive a Senate budgetary rule and bring the supplemental with the GI Bill to the floor, the GI Bill advanced by a margin of 77-21.

For more information about this legislation, please see House votes 330 and 432 in the House Vote Descriptions, and Senate votes 137 and 162 in this section.

9. THE POST-9/11 GI BILL: FAIR EDUCATION BENEFITS FOR VETERANS (THIRD VOTE)

✓ IAVA Action Supported

June 26, 2008: 2008 Senate Vote #162

An overwhelming majority of Senators, 92-6, support the final passage of the GI Bill in the Senate, sending the bill to the White House to be signed.

For more information about this legislation, please see House votes 330 and 432 in the House Vote Descriptions, and Senate votes 137 and 161 earlier in this section.
